General Description:

This is an in-depth week in Naples and its environs, including Pompeii, Herculaneum, Paestum, and other significant art, archaeological, and architectural sights. It includes visits to the Museo Nazionale to see the artefacts from Pompeii and Herculaneum, a visit to the Capodimonte Museum, the catacombs of San Gennero, and various other wonderful sights of the city.

Tour Leader:

Dr. Allan Langdale is an art and architectural historian who has travelled widely in Italy, Turkey, Greece, and other Mediterranean and Middle Eastern countries. He often works on trips for Smithsonian Journeys, Lindblad/National Geographic, and Zegrahm Expeditions. He is the author of several articles and books such as In a Contested Realm: An Illustrated Guide to the Art, Archaeology, and Architecture of Northern Cyprus (2012), Palermo: Travels in the City of Happiness (2015), and The Hippodrome of Constantinople: An Illustrated History (2018). You can find out more about Allan, and follow his travel blog, by searching on the internet for Allan's Art and Architecture Worlds.

How the Trip Works:

Guests are responsible for their own flights, airport transfers, room reservations, entry fees, meals and all sundry expenses of travel. The advantage of this is that you can use your miles for the airfare and book rooms that are within your desired price range (as long as we are all close to one another). The group size is limited to six people maximum, four minimum, who have good walking abilities and who are in good health. Travel and health insurance is strongly suggested and a waiver exempting your Tour Leader from any liabilities must be signed before the commencement of the trip. We shall all rendezvous at a designated time and place and meet every day to enjoy the itinerary together. As your Tour Leader I'll facilitate all aspects of your days, including transportation (usually public transportation; though walking is involved). Guests will contribute $90 per day per person for seven days. This will cover your Tour Leader's air fare, transportation, meals, lodging, site entry fees, and guiding duties. Contact me for payment options. You may pay by check ahead of time or in cash (Euro equivalent) when you arrive, whichever is most convenient for you. Tipping is entirely discretionary. Contact me regarding cancellation policies.
